

Community Staples: The Big Idea; Building A Digital Nation, One Community At A Time.

We'll do this in 3 steps:

1. Get Clout (Community Programming and Content Marketing)
2. Get Hired (Consulting and Retainership)
3. Invest

1. Get Clout

Organise free online workshops and share unique content talking about community building across different channels like Twitter via Twitter Spaces for workshops, and Blog Posts and LinkedIn for long form content, Instagram and TikTok and Twitter tweets for short form content.

Basically, we'll use community programming and content marketing to build this clout.

To help us figure out topics to focus on and cover, all members of the cooperative will join other communities to note what challenges they are experiencing and how we can provide solutions.

Also, note their processes and ask yourself;

What can be improved on?

What product can they do or build that will help them?

While in these communities, follow these guiding lines:

- Be active, contribute meaningfully, answer questions so as to gain trust, presence and "clout".
- Update your bio to mention being a core member/contributor to Community Staples, also adding that we are a Nigerian-based platform cooperative dedicated to helping communities be successful.
- Do not directly upsell or push Community Staples, only mention it in passing, let these communities know you for you and how you are a part of the Community Staples.

To further help with this, we (core members) will have to write and share more on Communities as a whole. These can be articles, presentations or short videos or any content related to community management, and create a captivating bio with a link to our community platform. This will help draw attention to what we are doing.

Activities we will do here include:

- Articles and presentations on key/pain-point community topics
- Free online workshops to help people know more about the articles and concepts we write about. These could happen on Twitter spaces, IG Live, LinkedIn, Zoom and the likes.

2. Get Hired

Once we have garnered enough presence and communities we support, this number can be 5,000 to 10,000 unique users across the communities we support, we move on to programming and strategies that get us income.

For us it will be building communities and their products either as a part-time consultant, a retained consultant, an employee or we build for ourselves. This can be looked at in two broad terms:

- Consulting
- Community Building

Consulting

Help guide community owners on how to build sustainable, profitable and business-oriented communities and how to get value from their communities to their business. We can either be hired full-time, be part-time or be on a retainerhip.

Community Building

Build and grow our own communities on topics with a lot of following like Gaming, Tourism and the likes.

3. Invest

We make enough money from all 3 steps above and grow to the point we invest in viable communities and their products. This is where we grow our income.
